

The FCC violated its mission to secure the public airwaves today, by allowing Sinclair Broadcast Group to broadcast over the public airwaves an in-kind commercial for President Bush. Of course Sinclair can air this, but its blatant political content means they should have to pay for it.